Course Overview

The two day training course covers the use of all three of the inventories in the Hogan Assessment Series. During the training, the participants are equipped with the necessary skills to administer, interpret and provide feedback on the Hogan Personality Inventory (HPI), the Hogan Development Survey (HDS) as well as the Motives, Values and Preferences Inventory (MVPI). Together this triad measures what has become known as the 'light side, the dark side and the inside' of personality. Used extensively worldwide, they are invaluable to those companies wishing to select and develop their employees.

The various applications for the series are also covered and each participant is given the opportunity to practice his or her interpretation and feedback skills. Please note that during the two day training, the development and statistical properties of the instruments are NOT covered in detail. But, each participant receives complimentary copies of the technical manuals on a CD for their own information.

Outcomes:

Successful completion of the Hogan training accredits professionals on three assessments, namely:

- The Hogan Personality Inventory (HPI)
- The Hogan Development Survey (HDS)
- The Motives, Values, Preferences Inventory (MVPI).
